Fog

20 wonderful images collected from the “Celebrate What’s Right with the World” Facebook page.

Enjoy the beauty, then click here to learn more and become a part of the celebration!
Celebrating a beautiful February morning. Looking toward the Bitterroot Mountains from my back yard, with the fog primarily coming from the Bitterroot River.

~ Jerry West
The fog rolling in to our Meadows camp on the way to the Grand Teton.

~Russ Bessette
While leading a photo tour in the Great Smoky Mountains, we stumbled upon this magical scene on the way out of Cades Cove. It had been a dreary day, however, we were celebrating all day in the glorious soft light. As we were leaving, the temperature dropped and the ground fog began to rise….happy dancing was had by all!

~John Barclay
Sunrise at Yellowstone

Celebrating the moment in our life when that special setting is put before us - the one from which comes an image that sparks a passion within us and ignites our desire to capture the beauty that Nature shares with us on a daily basis.

~Barbara Bozzo
There’s always something special about waking up early to photograph the new day...tranquility, beautiful light, morning fog....and the local crew team getting ready to hit the water at 6:00 A.M.!

~Mark A. Carruthers
Celebrating the infinite ways Nature finds to enchant us!
After a three day ice storm that kept us sequestered in our home, my Sweetie yelled upstairs, "Hey Babe, let's go sledding!" The world outside was absolutely silent, except the occasional sound of breaking branches. Before giggling and screaming the whole way down our hill, Johnny and his pup, Obi-Wan, were captivated by the sheer beauty of this winter wonderland. Celebrating my new life and the love that brought me here.

~Cathy Drew
Celebrating cold foggy evenings
There is something invigorating about being outdoors on a cold foggy evening. There is stillness that touches deep inside. It is a sort of reverence that this is a holy place. I sit quietly on the edge and contemplate the vastness of life, of this place, of our beautiful world. All is right with my world in this moment and I say a silent "Thank You" as the sun disappears into the darkness.

~John Hummel
American white pelicans at Elkhorn Slough. Taken from my kayak in a heavy, cold, dense fog while the pelicans were waiting for the fog to lift. Something unexpected seems to always happen if I just “get out there”, as we were not expecting anything due to the fog

~Jim Duckworth
Celebrating the peacefulness of early morning fog that limits what we see but not what we feel.

~Joan Loeken
Yesterday morning it was “hanging from the heavens” fog.
This morning it is “fill fog”.
Celebrating photogenic fog!

~Pete Jacovino
Colorful Fog
~Jack Larson
Sailing into the unknown. The minute I took the picture, a little voice in my head whispered, "Magic"!

~ Ian McDonald
"For the mist may break when the sun is high
And this soul forget its sorrow
And the rose ray of the closing day
May promise a brighter morrow”
~Emily Brontë

Celebrating the enjoyment of the morning mist with the promise of a new day
~Denise Parks
Celebrating the many colors and moods of life that makes us human. Many may see this as dark and mysterious. I see it as quiet, peaceful and contemplative. A foggy morning at Nisqually National Wildlife Refuge started off a glorious day of some amazing light on the diversity of wildlife there.

~David Pickles
Don’t let a little bit of fogginess stop you from reflecting on all that is right in this very moment!
Don’t forget to: Celebrate What’s Right with the World.

~ Anita Demers Perry
Today, I celebrate warm days and cool nights and the misty mornings they give us.

~Robert Postma
Celebrating being in the right place at the right time. I've never seen fog flow over a hillside like a river dropping over a waterfall. That is what happened this night, and then it slowly filled the valley with fog too. It was quite an amazing sight to see in person.

This is Mt. St. Helens under the Milky Way, and the glow on the horizon is the city lights from Portland, OR.

~ Kevin Russell
Celebrating Capturing Magic

While on vacation in Tennessee, I had the magical experience of seeing a rare snow storm during peak fall color. I took this at Indian Boundary Lake in Cherokee National Forest. It is a unique view of fall and winter in the same place. It was so awesome being there in person. My hope that day was to capture an image that would reflect the magical scene in front of me to help me remember the experience and give others who see it a sense of what it was like to experience in person.

~Connie Szabo Schmucker
Thanks to Mother Nature that she gives us such beautiful moments and the luck to see it....

~Werner Van Steen
Barns evoke notions of safety, shelter, storage and provision, not to mention they house creatures that depend upon us or sustain us. When I was much younger, pictures of barns bored me. Now they comfort me in inexplicable ways.

~Dean D. Ziegler
About Celebrate What’s Right with the World!

Over 300,000 people have visited the Celebrate website, since it went live in 2012. More than 10,000 people have ‘liked’ us on Facebook and more than 20,000 photographic celebrations have been posted!

Amazing! We have shared thousands of uplifting visual stories of joy and beauty, happiness and love.

For all of us who have been involved in the project, we see how much it has changed us. Not so much in an intellectual way, but rather in a deep and abiding emotional way. By seeing life as a celebration, by focusing on all we have to be thankful for, we find ourselves filling with gratitude. First, perhaps, for the big things in life. Now, more and more, for everything.— every cloud, every tree, every person, every opportunity, every breath. Living life to the fullest is so much easier through the lens of celebration. Imagine what life would be like if everyone saw life that way.

Come to our sites and join the celebration!

www.celebratewhatsright.com
The Celebrate Webpage

(www.celebratewhatsright.com)

This is the webpage that gave rise to the Celebrate Facebook Page. It’s full of images, videos, blogs, and quotes that can help to make everyday a Celebration. We invite you to partake in every part of it. Enjoy!

The Celebrate Themed Celebrations

www.celebratewhatsright.com/theme-celebrations

This is the site where you can find more of our wonderful theme or artist-based PDF collections. Enjoy all of the collections, download the PDFs and share them with your friends and family.

The Celebrate Facebook Page

(www.facebook.com/celebratewhatsright)

This is the site that all of the images in this PDF come from. Please come visit and enjoy the hundreds of celebrations posted here, then post your own and join the celebration!